

Job Description – Seattle Environmental & Energy Attorney

Marten Law PLLC is committed to being the best environmental law firm in the country. To reach that goal, we hire the most talented people in our field and then invest in them and in their careers. The firm is growing and we are seeking an associate with a minimum 2-3 years' experience for our Seattle office. The preferred candidate has a strong interest in litigation, environmental, product compliance, land use and/or energy law. Candidates should be sharp thinkers, creative problem solvers, and have good judgment. A description of the firm's practice can be found on our website, www.martenlaw.com.

Minimum Requirements

- Skills: efficient and effective in performing legal research and able to produce superior written work product, whether formal briefs or distilled, practical advice for clients in the form of an email or table
- Academic Qualifications: excellent academic credentials are required; top law school or environmental law program; law review experience preferred

Relevant Experience

Candidates should describe their substantive experience with any of the following statutes or federal agencies: FIFRA, NEPA, CEQA, ESA, CESA, BGEPA, MBTA, FLPMA, CWA, SDWA, CAA, TSCA, CERCLA, RCRA, EPCRA, California's Proposition 65, California planning and zoning laws, and laws administered by the Consumer Product Safety Commission, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the Federal Energy Commission or the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Other Essential Job Duties

Our billable hour expectation is 1850 billable hours a year plus non-billable activities as needed. This position would require occasional travel in order to provide excellent legal service for firm clients.
